REMUS DEFENSE SCORES POINTS IN HIS TRIAL FOR KILLING

Reporter Tells of Man's Ravings in Indianapolis.

DODGE INVOLVED

Pulitzer Prize Winner Believes Defendant Was Insane.

By JAMES L. KILGALLAN, COURT HOUSE, CINCINNATI, Dec. 1.—A flustered and nervous farm boy, Orin Weber, hesitatingly took the witness stand at the Remus murder trial today and in a faltering voice related details of the alleged perjury of the slain Mrs. Imogene Holmes Remus.

"She had four guns and wanted to 'get' Mr. Remus," he quaveringly declared.

COURT HOUSE, Cincinnati, O., Dec. 1.—John T. Rogers, St. Louis newspaper man, was recalled to the witness stand today and graphically described an occasion in Indianapolis when George Remus, slayer of his wife, Imogene, behaved like a mad man when he was told that his wife was enjoying a high ball party with Franklin L. Dodge in a room at the Claypool hotel.

Rogers is the Pulitzer prize winner of 1926 for meritorious journalism. He had spent "weeks at a time" with Remus for a period of almost two years before Remus shot his wife. Rogers had been assigned to get the story of Remus' intricate bootleg operations.

Upon being recalled this morning, he was asked by Defense Attorney Charles H. Elston if he had overlooked any instance that had led him to believe the defendant was insane. The

IF JOHN BRACKEN, prime minister of Manitoba, is right, the northern part of his country contains treasure that would shake finance the world over, make our national gold supply a pitiful joke and disrupt the world's credit if it could be produced suddenly.

ACCORDING to Mr. Bracken, the Flin Flon mining region in Northern Manitoba contains 80,000,000 tons of copper, as much zinc, 32,000,000 TONS OF GOLD and 16,000,000 tons of silver. The gold alone would be worth more than a trillion dollars, and "trillion" is a word that even Wall Street hasn't dealt with yet, although it will come.

OHIO RIVER IS RISING HERE

30-Foot Mark Looms As Allegheny and Beaver Floods Rage

300 FAMILIES ARE MAROONED

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Dec. 1.—Three hundred families marooned in their homes, public utilities crippled, bridges and highways washed out and total damage estimated in the millions was the rapidly mounting toll of the Genesee valley's most ravaging flood today.

The second casualty of the unprecedented floods was reported from Olean today where Edward Halley, 45, burned to death in his home before firemen were able to reach the flaming structure by boats. A farm hand was reported drowned yesterday.

Despite the high waters in the Allegheny and Beaver valleys, the Ohio river will not reach a flood stage in East Liverpool unless there is more rain, lockmen at U. S. dam No. 8, said today.

Allegheny Ramping.

At 11 o'clock this morning the gauge at the dam registered 25.8 feet and the rise was at the rate of one-tenth of a foot per hour. The river was falling yesterday, but at midnight it started to rise again. Word received from Pittsburgh was that approximately 30 feet would be registered in East Liverpool, or three feet less than flood stage.

The Allegheny river was rampaging at Pittsburgh this morning, while the Monongahela river which joins the Allegheny and Ohio there, was slowly receding.

Lowlands along the Allegheny river are already inundated, while at least eight feet more water is expected before the crest is reached. The headwaters of the Allegheny were still rising at noon.

A flood stage also prevails in the lower Beaver valley.

Falling temperatures which began last night will have a tendency to (Continued on Page 8, Column 3)

Dawes stated that he was not a candidate for the nomination. His statement, dictated to the White House stenographer, who takes President Coolidge's dictation, was issued after Dawes had called upon the president to pay his respects.

The vice president would not comment upon the president's "I do not choose to run" statement.

FARMERS JOIN BUSINESS MEN IN LAUNCHING BANKING HOUSE

Meeting Called for Tonight at New Cumberland.

TO SELL STOCK

W. A. Bonitz, Brick Manufacturer, Takes Initiative.

As an aftermath to the closing of the town's First National bank about 10 days ago, plans for the organization of a state bank in New Cumberland were under way today.

Meeting of invited stockholders will be held in the Hancock county court house at New Cumberland at 8 o'clock tonight, when committees, named to investigate the proposition, will make their report.

Tonight's meeting is a follow-up gathering of about 25 manufacturers, business men, professional men and farmers, held in the office of W. A. Bonitz, president of the Crescent Brick company, a few days ago, when the decision to organize a new bank to take the place of the defunct institution was reached. A number of prominent residents of New Cumberland and vicinity have expressed themselves as being interested in the plan.

The First National Bank was closed upon orders of H. A. Graham, federal bank examiner. John A. Brandon and James E. Brandon Jr., brothers, and officers in the bank, voluntarily surrendered to the United States district court at Wheeling pending the outcome of the audit which is being made by examiners from the Cleveland federal reserve bank.

Since the closing of the bank, New Cumberland business men and manufacturers and farmers of Clay and Poe districts have been forced to go to Chester, Weirton, Toronto, Steubenville or East Liverpool to do their banking.

The First National Bank was a state bank before being reorganized into a national institution 20 years ago.

EX-BALL STAR IS FOUND SHOT

Daniel C. Shay Dying in Kansas City.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 1.—Physicians at General hospital here today expressed the belief that Daniel C. Shay, former manager of the Kansas City Blues, American association, would not live through the day. Shay was found shot through the head in his room at a hotel last night. He had not regained consciousness.

Police were investigating the circumstances. Indications pointed to an attempt at suicide. Shay played shortstop on the New York Giants team 29 years ago.

Shay was tried and acquitted here several years ago on a charge of murder in connection with shooting a Negro bartender.

Lilliendahl murder trial today.

Spectators and jury expect to witness a bit of ironical drama when Mrs. Amanda Beach, gray-haired wife of Willis Beach, Mrs. Margaret Lilliendahl's dapper little admirer, takes the witness stand and testifies in defense of her alleged rival.

Mrs. Lilliendahl and Beach are jointly charged with the murder of Dr. William Lilliendahl. Mrs. Beach, as wife of the accused, is not permitted by law to testify in his behalf, but she can testify for Mrs. Lilliendahl as her friend.

She will take the stand after the commonwealth concludes its case today, probably with the testimony of Samuel L. Bark, Baltimore attorney and former showman. The state contends Beach confessed to Bark he killed Dr. Lilliendahl with the assistance of a woman.

Prosecution Disappointed.

Harry F. Sanderson, a salesman of Sidney, Ohio, whose failure to make a complete identification of Beach as the man at the murder scene, was a surprise and disappointment to the prosecution, was under a physician's care today in Atlantic City, where he suffered a nervous collapse last night. Rumors were current in the court-

They were Jack Thornbower, young truck farmer of Vineland, N. J., home of Beach and Mrs. Lilliendahl, and Henry Nitsche, of South Vineland. The OUTER GATE by OCTAVUS ROY COHEN

READ THIS FIRST:

Bob Terry is released from prison, after serving three years for a crime he did not commit. He leaves prison with ghastly impressions and fierce bitterness in his heart. Upon his release he is given a letter from Peter Borden, his former employer, who has aided in sending Terry to prison because he thought it was his "duty." Terry determines to make Borden suffer as he has suffered during the three years in prison. Bob's prison pal is Todd Shannon, who urges him to call on his niece, Kathleen Shannon, when Bob returns to his home town. Todd tells Bob he might also look up John Carmody, a criminal lawyer and political boss in the state, as Carmody may have employment for him.

Bob says good-bye to his prison pal, Todd Shannon, and accepts a present of a little carving of a Japanese pagoda Todd has carved out in prison, using an old safety razor blade.

Bob is at last free to return to his home town. He takes the train home, and on the way a railroad detective heckles him, causing a lot of unfavorable attention from occupants of the car.

Bob opens the envelope the warden has given him on his release. Peter Borden, the man he hates and determines to get even with, has given him a hundred dollars and also says he will meet Bob on his arrival at the station. Bob meets Borden at the gate in the station.

Peter Borden asks Bob if he will shake hands with him. Borden takes Bob home with him, and tells him he wants Bob to remain with him permanently. Bob decides to do so and to "get even" at first opportunity. At the Borden home he meets Lois, the daughter of the man he hates. In the old days Bob has worshipped Lois from afar.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.)

CHAPTER VI.

After three years of separation he found himself again looking again upon Lois Borden.

And now bittersweet memory descended upon him with crushing poignancy. He recalled vividly his worship of other days; a dumb and distant idolatry in which he had been content to accept the firm friendship of this girl, not daring to hint to her that his feeling was any deeper.

It was amazing that he had not thought of her in the last year or two. And even this afternoon his thoughts had not been of Lois. For three years he had existed in a world in which there were no women except the wives and daughters who visited good-conduct prisoners on Sunday afternoons in the yard of the penitentiary.

She stood for a moment in the revealing glow of the piano lamp; a slim, trim figure sheathed in a dress of white which clung softly to every curve. She seemed very small, yet he knew that she was taller than her father, and the patrician lines of her father's face were hers also—softened by her intense femininity.

Her hair was brown: a glorious shade of brown which was sometimes black and sometimes sheer red-gold; and it curled over her forehead and about her ears in tiny tendrils. She stood motionless for a moment, regarding him compassionately. Her eyes were soft with the maternal light, and he read instantly the stricken look which came into them as though for the first time she was conscious of the havoc which had been wrought in the young man who three years before had been irrepressibly boyish and gentle and shy. He saw the color drain from her cheeks as she took refuge in action, crossing the room toward him with both hands outstretched. Her voice was soft and vibrant.

"Bob," she said simply and unaffectedly, "I'm so glad you are here." He took her hands because he did not know what else to do, and at the contact strange, forgotten fires thrilled him and hot blood raced through veins which had forgotten the woman touch. The color flooded his cheeks—and he dropped her hands as though they burned.

"Thank you," he murmured. There was pity in the gaze she bestowed upon him as she led him to the divan and seated herself beside him. He sank deep into the unaccustomed luxury of the upholstery and sat rigid, staring off across the room. She glanced at his profile, all softness had gone. It was a stern, grim profile—granite hard. He seemed more her father's age than her own. And he seemed to have forgotten how to talk. Her own task was immensely difficult.

"You found everything all right in your room?"

"Yes, ma'am."

"And the clothes?"

"Yes, ma'am."

The tears welled into her eyes and she covered her hands with hers in an impulsive gesture of infinite sorrow. "Oh! Bob—don't!"

"Don't what?"

"Don't say 'ma'am' to me. Please—Can't you call me Lois, as you used to do? Can't we take up our friendship where we left off?"

"Yes, ma'am—I reckon so."

The grinning countenance of Croesus was insinuated through the door. "Dinners' ready, Miss Lois."

She rose and waited for him. They moved together toward the dining room: she young and lithe and filled with the eager, untrammelled vitality of healthy youth; he moving with tread as measured and regular as the beat of a funeral march; head down, eyes focused on the floor; lips set in a stern, straight line. At the door Peter Borden joined them. The eyes of father and daughter met briefly, and the glance which flashed between them established the community of their sorrow and proclaimed their alliance to make up to this man for the evil which had been done.

Peter Borden sat at the head of the table, his daughter opposite. Between them was Bob Terry. He was dazzled by the napery, the gleaming silver, the softness and quietness. There came to him vivid, searing memory of the past three years: the three-day march into a tremendous dining room where agate plates were ready piled high with nourishing but unpalatable food; where men sat on hard little stools and were denied the privilege of conversation. Three times a day for three years he had been fed along with the rest of the pack—fed and dismissed. Meals had been horrible things, not because the food was not good and plentiful, but because it had been the most animal-like phase of the silent world.

There was little conversation during the meal. Habit had difficulty to shake off, and Bob had learned not to talk. Borden and his daughter were awkward and ill at ease.

The situation amazed Bob Terry. Even in the old days he had never aspired to such luxury as this. Occasionally he had been a guest at the house because of his friendship with Lois and also because Borden had made great display of personal interest in the lad. But his manner of living had been modest, as befitted a young man who held a clerkship and hope for the future. Now—

Coffee was served. Cigars and cigarettes were handed to Bob. He selected a cigarette and at Borden's suggestion they adjourned to the soft glow of the living room and Croesus brought their coffee.

They smoked in silence. Lois was on the divan and Bob sat next to her. Peter Borden, sitting opposite, observed them gravely. At length he spoke, his voice uncertain.

"Bob," he said, "I wish to have a talk with you—in Lois' presence."

"Yes, sir."

"Three years ago—" The older man hesitated, then plunged ahead: "Three years ago I was instrumental in sending you to prison for a crime which you did not commit. I do not have to repeat that I was conscientious—but now the time has come for me to offer what I can to atone to you for what has happened."

He paused, evidently waiting for the young man to speak. But Bob was silent, his face set and expressionless.

"I realize, of course," continued Borden, "that time cannot be turned backward, and that what is done cannot be undone. You cannot go back where you were when I made my ghastly mistake. You see, Bob, I thought you were guilty: everybody thought you were. The thing seemed terribly horrible to me because I had been more than an employer to you."

In some ways even more than a friend, I had accepted you in my home, permitted a friendship with my daughter. I had grown sincerely to love you. I was planning great things for your future—and to indicate that, I gave you a position of trust.

"Then the embezzlement occurred. Every scrap of evidence pointed to you. You incriminated yourself. I was bitterly disappointed and deeply hurt. And Bob—you probably will never understand this. But when it was suggested that I might refuse to prosecute, I did not consider the idea for a moment. I believe in the state, Bob, and I believe in the maintenance of our social fabric. I believed then, and always will believe, that when a crime is committed it is the state which has suffered and not the individual. That happens to be the law, too; but it is also a legal theory which I believe. Therefore it was not the lost money which caused me to prosecute—it was that I did not think I had a moral right to withhold my testimony. You can never understand my attitude. I don't ask you to, I am merely explaining why I did what I did. I am trying to show you that my motives were not petty.

"The past is past—I hope. It is my task now to atone, as far as possible, for the mistake I have made. I realize that prison leaves its mark on a man: I know that the three years you have been there can never be restored. But I am offering to do what I can—and I hope you will accept my offer. I am speaking before Lois because she, too, will have a part in it."

Borden paused for a moment, then lighted a cigar. "I wish you to enter my home—permanently—as a member of my family. I wish you to consider that whatever I have is yours. You have only to ask, and I shall give it to you. I am not a wealthy man, as wealth is counted these days—but I am far from poor. And so, Bob, there is my offer. My home, my material wealth—and surely you should not deprive me of this single opportunity to restore some small portion of what I have taken from you."

The voice of the old man trailed off. And for several minutes nothing was said. Bob's thoughts were chaotic.

He had left prison with one idea in mind: one and one only: that was to make this man suffer as he had suffered; to sear him with the same brand. Money! What did money mean to this canting old hypocrite? And when Bob spoke, his words came slowly.

"You are inviting me to come into your home, Mr. Borden?"

"Yes."

"Under what conditions?"

Borden's eyebrows arched in surprise.

"What do you mean?"

"What are the conditions under which I would be here? What obligations do I assume?"

"None. Of course."

"You mean that?"

"Positively."

Terry's hatred of the man had not died. Rather it flamed more hotly for this lavish display of generosity. He was seeing through a glass darkly, and the horrors of prison were yet to close.

His dull eyes swept the luxurious room. They came to rest eventually on the slender figure of Lois Borden. Lois, the nurtured and sheltered; Lois, the soft, luxurious daughter of an indulgent father; Lois, the girl whom once Bob had worshipped. He questioned Borden again with a queer, tenacious insistence.

"There would be no restrictions whatsoever?"

"None."

Bob Terry's eyes rested on Lois Borden's face. Her eyes were compelled to his. Hers were a soft and misty brown; his—once blue—were now the color of granite. It was a prolonged, mesmeric stare. And Bob Terry gave his answer without looking away from the face of the girl.

"I accept, sir."

YOU FOLKS WITH ACHES AND PAINS CAN GET QUICK RELIEF

Nationally Known Baseball Trainer Says It Does Not Matter Whether It Is Lumbago, Sciatica, Neuralgia or Neuritis.

LINIMENT HE USES ON BIG LEAGUE BALL PLAYERS STOPS PAIN QUICK

Tells How to Stop Pains, Aches, Lame Back Quickly

READ WHAT THIS EXPERT SAYS BELOW

For 25 years I have studied how to keep men in perfect physical condition and my experience makes me certain I can take a person no matter how much they ache and hurt, from rheumatism, lame back, neuritis, lumbago or neuralgia, and quickly have them feeling like running a foot race or a home run.

Ball players after getting up a sweat often play an inning or two in the rain and then damp, cold and chilled to the bone, catch trains, with result that next day they show up at the ball park so crippled with rheumatism, lameness and stiff joints that they can hardly walk. An ordinary liniment would never fix them up quickly, but the liniment we use does the trick, declares Mike Martin, general trainer of the Washington Baseball Club.

FANS KNOW MIKE.

So many people with rheumatism, lame backs, neuritis and neuralgia have wanted this liniment which we use at the ball park that bottles are mailed all over the country and now it can be obtained at any good drug store, in small bottles for a few cents. Just ask for Mike Martin's Liniment. It is guaranteed to be the finest, speediest liniment made and will bring complete relief to user or money refunded. Folder enclosed with each bottle tells how to use this liniment. No man or woman with aches or pains should do without it.

MIKE MARTIN, Trainer Washington Baseball Club

Piles Go Quick

Without Salves or Cutting

External treatments seldom banish Piles.

The cause is inside—bad circulation. The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby.

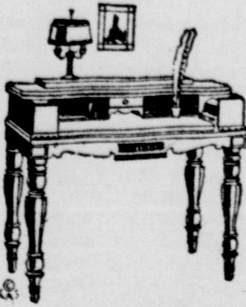

The bowel walls are weak, the parts almost dead.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send fresh, healthy blood to the raw, sensitive membranes. Internal treatment is one safe method. Ointments and other external treatments can't give lasting relief.

J. S. Leonard, M. D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in hundreds of cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at Mathews Medicine Store, who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer.

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 1, 1927.

Patterson Athletic Field

Question of draining and enclosing Patterson Athletic Field, fenceless during the five years it has been the property of the East Liverpool school district, will be discussed tonight by the board of education, three members of which retire from office with the passing of December.

According to announcement yesterday, the board has retained a Youngstown engineer who has made a survey of the West End acreage to determine the cost of providing a suitable drainage system as part of the proposed program.

An eight-foot wire fence, with three strands of barbed wire atop it, and the posts set in three feet of concrete, is to be erected on the four sides of the park, while entrances will be established in West Eighth street as well as in the Fourth street extension, board members say.

There is not only a wide divergence of opinion as to whether a wire or a wooden fence should be erected, but also discussion among taxpayers as to the feasibility of rushing the proposed work, in view of the fact that winter is just around the corner. And, too, unless the filling job, started many months ago, when the field was made a public dumping ground, and then halted, is to be completed, it appears to the observer that the school board shall gain nothing by rushing the work at this late day.

The board of education should study all angles of the problem, call for bids on the various plans and determine what is best for the interests of all concerned before signing a contract. And, too, since a new board shall qualify early in January, the three members-elect should be consulted regarding any improvement for which they must authorize payment.

Fewer Germans

France may cease to shiver at the specter of a rapidly growing German population. Recent figures from Berlin report that the deaths in that city now exceed the births. "If it were not for the influx of newcomers from outside, Berlin would be a dying town. Every year would see it growing smaller and smaller." So says a German weekly publication.

The high cost of living and the scarcity of houses are making smaller families or no families the rule.

The same tendency was observed long since in Paris. It is to be found in the other great cities of Europe, as well as in London and New York. The statisticians who shudder so frequently over their vision of an over-populated world may find that condition being postponed a few thousand years later than they have foretold.

Cheerful Outlook

There has been pessimism in trade and industry lately, but the Stock Exchange has not been pessimistic. Quite the contrary. Stocks have been bid up, slowly and surely, until they have reached heights suggestive of an expected boom or a long period of prosperity.

The latter is probably what has been in the minds of investors and speculators who think clearly about the matter. They have good authority for their optimism. There is a new philosophy of business now developing, which believes that the country need not be at the mercy of spasmodic or periodic booms and slumps, but is learning how to keep itself out of economic trouble and is likely to do so from now on.

This philosophy was expressed recently by Abraham Myers of the Federal Trade commission. He declared that business stability, at a prosperous level, would be attained by "stabilization of the money market through wise banking regulation, the gradual stabilization of production through the dissemination of statistics and other lawful activities of the trade organizations, the simplification and standardization of production and products, and the introduction of new wealth-producing activities faster than the old ones are depleted or reach the saturation point."

It all sounds possible, and much progress in that direction has been made in the last few years. Mr. Myers' most interesting suggestion—because it is the newest—is the one which foresees business brains devising new ways to create wealth as old ways are exhausted.

This has happened often enough in the past; why should it not happen hereafter? The world is full of untouched raw materials awaiting development by modern industrial science, and also full of long-used materials awaiting new combinations and uses.

Another Bird Nest

American naturalists are beginning to worry about the startling. At a recent meeting of bird-lovers in one of the middle-western states, a speaker raised a storm when he innocently remarked that in trapping birds for banding he had "unfortunately" smothered part of a flock of starlings.

"The unfortunate thing about it," retorted a prominent ornithologist, "was that you didn't smother them all!"

The starling has a beautiful name, which it hardly lives up to in appearance, and still less in character. It is another foreign importation. Introduced by some American boneheads who seemed to have forgotten the dreadful lesson of the English sparrows, it immediately started multiplying and moving westward, devastating as it went.

"It ruins fruit crops, drives away native song birds and makes dawn miserable with squawking. Brazen and unfearful of man from centuries of European habitat, the starling nests in barns and near houses, where food is plentiful, and kills the wrens, blue birds and warblers who demand and repay respect from human neighbors."

Apparently this pest is destined to overrun the whole country.

The Little Scorpion's Club—

By Fontaine Fox

(© Fontaine Fox, 1927, The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—There are no more luxurious gambling halls like Canfield's, Honest John Kelly's and others in the metropolis. These places were conducted in the manner of the exclusive club and gentility was strongly stressed.

A gentleman was supposed to take heavy losses with a smile. He came in full dress and top hat and while all liquor and food were free he was expected to use them as the true gentleman always does—sparingly.

There were never killings or cheap brawls. And the authorities merely winked at them, staging a raid only at long intervals to satisfy the reformers. The raids were tipped off in advance and law enforcers found men sitting around in deep cushioned chairs reading and playing solitaire. When these places were permanently closed, gambling acquired a movable background. The gambling house runner favors the new method because he does not have to scatter protection money as he did in the old free and easy days.

He has portable equipment which can be moved with the precision of a circus. One night he may be occupying a flock of rooms in the top floor of a hotel in the Forties and the next he may be in a private apartment in the upper Seventies or a home in Greenwich Village.

His information is kept to himself until late in the afternoon when he imparts it to trusted lieutenants—or "tip-off men" who spread the word where the night's high play will be staged. Only carefully selected "important money" men are on this.

For the lesser fry or tin-horn gamblers the game process is employed. In the chophouses, cigar stores and other haunts the word is spread at six o'clock where dice and card games will hold forth for the evening.

Opium parlors for moneyed "hop heads" are conducted much in the same manner. Only they rarely take a chance in the city. Men who conduct them are said to rent isolated homes in remote villages—remaining only a week or so at a time in one and moving on to the other until they complete the circle. At one time several years ago it was said almost all of the shady hotels in the mid-town Tenderloin had one floor devoted to slaves of the poppy. Frequent raids and prosecutions have driven the majority into the country.

Abe Martin Says:

It seems like th' day's gone by when really first-class men kin be elected t' office, an' even slippin' one over by appointment haint as easy as it looks. I don't see how anybody with a name like President Kondouritis o' Greece could even miss a stray bullet, t' say nothin' o' one intended fer him.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Government Aids to Business.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 1.—During the last fiscal year, as shown by the annual report of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce of the Federal Department of Commerce, that governmental agency rendered 2,500,000 commercial services to the business interests of the United States.

These services covered a wide range. Many of them consisted in answering inquiries of relatively minor importance, but each none the less a distinct aid to business. Others of more specific moment include the preparation and issuance of an atlas of wholesale grocery territories which is represented as having an actual value to the trade of not less than $5,000,000. Still others that as yet are not susceptible of concrete evaluation are the steps taken toward working out a solution of the problem of eliminating the waste in distribution.

In all, it is claimed, the Bureau's activities for the year were worth approximately $500,000,000 to American business, considered an amazing return on the cost of the Bureau which was only $3,263,000. "Clearly," says Dr. Klein, the Bureau's chief, "the American taxpayer is collecting most substantial dividends on his investment in the services of this organization."

The half billion dollars which may thus be entered on the credit side of the American business ledger, says the report, includes not only actual orders secured by manufacturers, agriculturists, and exporters through the assistance of the Bureau's foreign and domestic branches, but also specific losses which were avoided because of action taken in behalf of exporters or information furnished to them. The estimate is based upon actual returns from numerous commercial and industrial enterprises.

Evidence of the value of the Bureau's work is to be found, it is pointed out, in the increasing number of calls which the business interests of the country are making on it. The number of trade promotion services rendered last year was almost 25 per cent greater than that of the year before and five times that of 1922.

A World-Wide Service.
The Bureau has commercial attaches and trade commissioners stationed in all parts of the world, and in addition to the regular staff assigned to general commercial and economic investigations, now has in the field 27 special commodity trade representatives. Twelve of the latter were appointed during the last year. They are seeking markets for a wide variety of American commodities, including automotive products, lumber, textiles, and boots and shoes.

Members of the group covering textiles and boots and shoes, for example, are looked upon as special representatives of New England industries and exporters and they are expected to prove of material assistance in improving industrial and commercial conditions in that section of the country. That they have a big field in which to work is shown by the fact that of 450,000,000 yards of cotton goods used in the Dutch East Indies in 1925 only 932,000 yards were exported from the United States, and of 258,000,000 yards imported by Egypt last year this country supplied a mere 783,000 yards, while in other big markets for cotton goods the percentage of the trade secured by American manufacturers is even less. The success of the Bureau's trade representatives in other lines leads New England interests to be absolutely confident they will benefit greatly from the service undertaken for them and they are already preparing to take care of the increased volume of business that is to flow in to them.

Foreign offices of the Bureau are becoming of increasing importance as first points of contact for American business men traveling abroad, according to Dr. Klein. In practically all of these branches the volume of callers increased during the last fiscal year, including not only travelers from the United States, but also native business men. In Berlin, it is noted, the number of callers increased by 38 per cent, reaching a total of 3,350.

Not a little of the efficiency of the foreign service during the past year is credited to the enactment of the Hoch Bill by the last Congress whereby the service was placed on a statutory and permanent basis. This is said to have "pepped up" the entire overseas staff, as the foreign trade scouts are assured henceforth a secure status.

Assisting in Big Deals.
Numerous instances are cited in the report of the sales helps that have been given in closing big deals. For example, the Madrid office assisted directly in obtaining for an American firm an order for electric cars totaling more than $1,000,000. Through the aid of the Berlin office an American manufacturer of lubricants secured $300,000 of new business in three months and the same office helped American printing machinery exporters to obtain orders amounting to $250,000.

The Buenos Aires branch was able to establish connections for a San Francisco fruit farm which resulted in more than $100,000 worth of orders. The Melbourne branch was instrumental in bringing about the purchase of American materials to be used in the construction of a new hotel valued at $250,000. Through the offices of the Montreal branch a New York novelty house secured $300,000 of new business. The Rome office arranged an Italian agency for a Michigan motor car company which resulted in sales of more than $300,000 worth of automobiles. Through the assistance of

PISO'S Coughs
Quick Relief! A pleasant, effective syrup—35c and 60c sizes. And externally, use PISO'S Throat and Chest Salve, 35c.

Santiago representatives an American airplane corporation was able to obtain orders from the Chilean government aggregating $200,000.

With the foreign department functioning so smoothly, increasing attention is being devoted to the domestic service. Dr. Klein states. Six new branches of the Bureau were established in this country during the year under review, bringing the total foreign trade "service stations" available to American business to 23, and a series of foreign trade conferences were arranged in a number of the larger cities.

Also the year disclosed that the Bureau is meeting with success in its efforts to awaken the business interests of the country to the importance of the Bureau's activities as an agency for the elimination of waste in domestic distribution and the promotion generally of better domestic business methods.

The total value of business transactions each year in the United States, Dr. Klein says, is estimated at approximately $80,000,000,000, 10 per cent of which may be said to represent waste in distribution. This loss to industry, therefore, is in the neighborhood of $8,000,000,000, which is $3,000,000,000 in excess of the value of our total foreign trade. Obviously if that waste can be reduced materially—and experts say that practically all of it should be eliminated—the Bureau's activities in American business than anything it can do in the way of building up the nation's foreign trade, for the competition in markets abroad is growing keener every year.

Short Talks By Thoughtful Mothers.

A California (Long Beach) Mother speaks: "Only a mother who has passed through anxious hours of fear of croup can appreciate our feeling of gratitude toward Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. It stopped Junior's dreadful hoarse croupy cough the very first night he took it and it was a great relief to see him drop into a quiet sleep. Since then, we have many times proven its reliability for coughs and colds." Good also for whooping cough. Carnahan's 3 Drug Stores.

Duquesne Light Company Again Seeks Conference.

Legislation for the repaving of Midland avenue, a link in the East Liverpool Beaver highway and the main business thoroughfare of Midland, was adopted by borough council in special session last night. Rules were suspended to place the ordinance on its third and final reading.

Council embodied its action in an amended ordinance providing for the repaving of the street and instructing the Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction company to repave between its tracks. Notice will be served upon the company, and if no action is taken within 60 days, mandamus proceedings will be initiated in Beaver county courts by Richard S. Holt, borough solicitor.

State aid in construction of the highway will be sought, according to Robert Lloyd, council president.

Continued interest of the Duquesne Light company in the borough's election suit pending at Beaver against the Ohio Power company and the Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction company seeking to compel the removal of high tension wires in Midland avenue developed last night, when Solicitor Holt told council that Duquesne officials wish a conference. Request for a conference was refused several weeks ago.

Council informally questioned the quality and quantity of city coal, but took no action in the matter. Meeting closed after councilmen held a 60-minute executive session.

HAIR FOR SALE

See JACK DOYLE at Mathews Cut Rate.

Tomorrow Will Be the Last Day of My Present Stay.

My direct challenge is Follow My System for growing hair then try and get bald headed! When I stand up and boldly claim to grow hair on bald heads, many men shake their heads and smile. Here's what they think: "Why if that fellow Doyle can grow hair he ought to be the richest man on the globe." Listen if you think my claims are a lot of bunk, I can hardly blame you, for there are too many bald headed millionaires. But let me respect part of my challenge—"Follow my system," that's it—do as I tell you—do it rain or shine—do it whether you feel like it or not, and you are going to regrow your full head of hair! And remember—I said real honest to goodness hair not a temporary growth of fuzz.

Years of study and research perfected my system. It is a common sense system based on the laws of nature. The privacy of your own home you treat yourself and the cost is but a few pennies daily. My system has regrown hair for thousands throughout the country. It will do as much for you!

If you are bald or partially bald, if your hair is thin and lifeless, if you have dandruff (dandruff causes baldness), itching scalp or any other hair trouble, then come to Mathews Cut Rate Store to see me. Remember just one thing. It costs you nothing to listen to my story. If you believe what I say and follow my simple instructions, thick hair is yours! That's fair enough, isn't it.

Friday will be the last day of my present stay at Mathews. Tonight I will be here until 9:00 P. M. Come in tonight or tomorrow. Free private consultation for men and women.

New Ford Car Makes Its Bow Tomorrow

Public Reception to be Held in Beers-Hanks Motor Company Showrooms.

East Liverpool will get its first full description of the new line of Ford automobiles tomorrow.

A public reception will be held at The Beers-Hanks Motor company, West Sixth street, as part of the national introduction of the new models. In thousands of communities this new line of moderate-priced light automobiles will be introduced to millions of people.

The doors of the showrooms are to be opened tomorrow morning and attendees will be on hand throughout the day to explain the new and interesting features of the car.

The new Ford cars are said to be the product of several years of study and planning by Henry Ford and his engineers in the great Ford laboratories at Dearborn. Ford himself has announced that "there is nothing quite like the new Ford car" and has stated that it will prove just as great a pioneer in the present field of low price light cars of quality as the famous Model T was a pioneer in its field for more than 19 years.

Beers-Hanks have been notified by Ford officials at Detroit that the factories throughout the country are now preparing to produce the new cars in numbers exceeding even the tremendous production records achieved in the manufacture of the Model T line.

Company officials at Detroit also repeated their early announcement that production of the new Ford line will not make the Model T line obsolete. The manufacture of new parts for Model T replacement will continue to be an important factor of the Ford plants as long as any of the Model T cars are still in operation. Because of this policy, present owners of Model T Ford cars will be able to keep their cars in perfect order as long as those cars remain in commission.

CHRISTMAS HAS COME TO EAST LIVERPOOL

A representative of this paper toured the East Liverpool stores yesterday.

He was amazed by the completeness of the arrangements East Liverpool merchants have made this year to make it possible for you to "do your Christmas shopping early."

That famous slogan — to which the American people paid little real attention for many years — has developed into an actuality.

East Liverpool people are doing their Christmas shopping — by the hundreds.

East Liverpool merchants were complimented freely yesterday by shoppers who appreciate the action of the stores in offering their complete Christmas stocks at this time — instead of waiting until the big pre-Christmas rush makes shopping less pleasant.

Early Christmas Shopping Is An Advantage to the Purchaser

To shop now means to shop in comfort with plenty of time to consider each purchase. To shop now while selections are at the height of their freshness completeness gives a great advantage of variety and unhurried service.

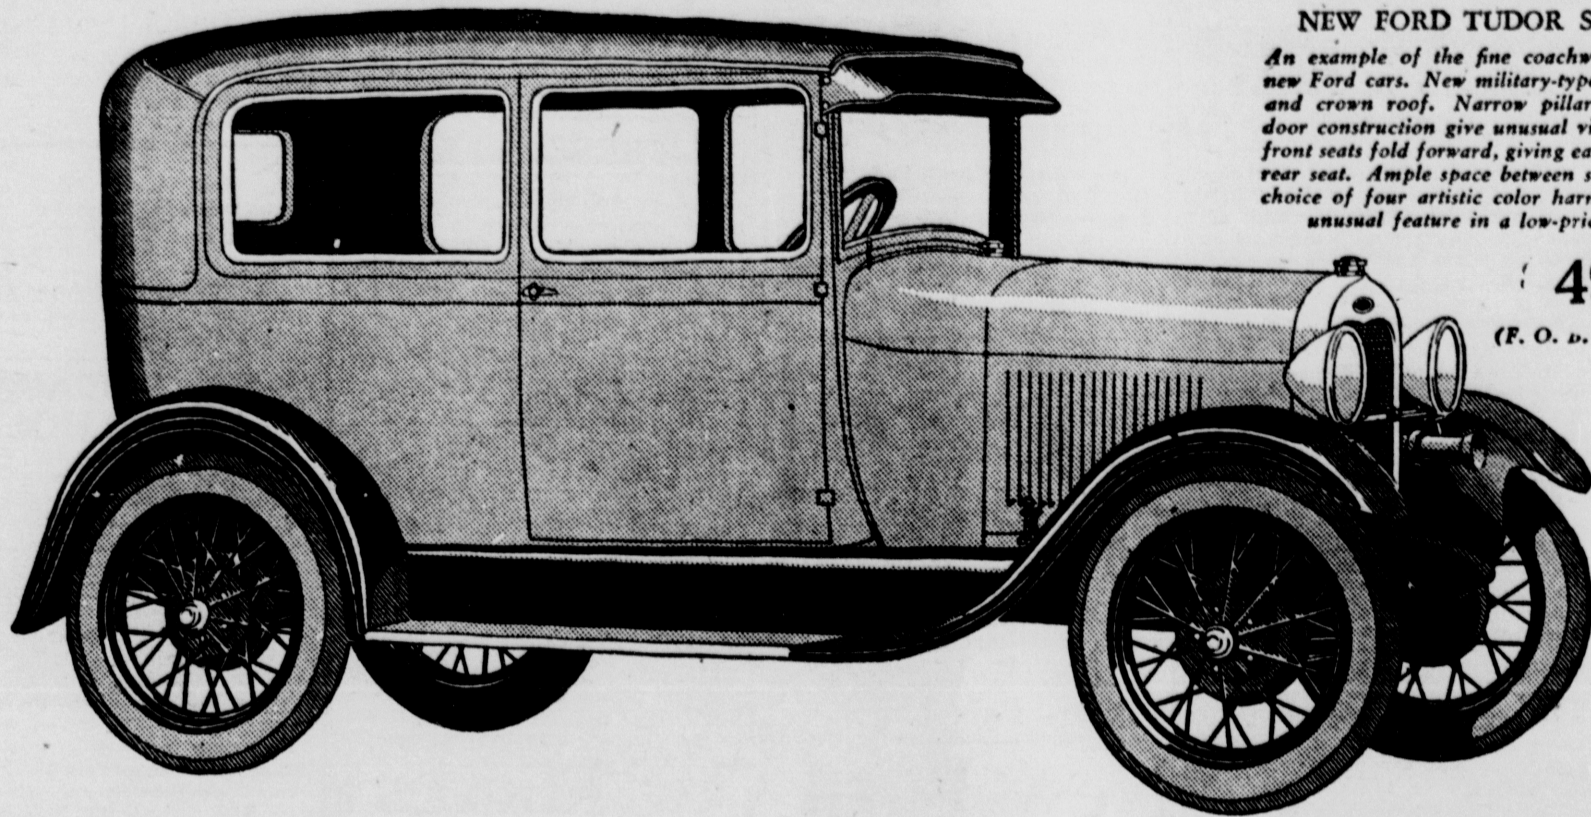

For the Merchandise News of This Early Christmas Shopping Season in East Liverpool, Read The Review-Tribune.

Early Christmas Shopping Is A Boon To Salespeople of the Stores.

What a wonderful help it would be to every employee of the store if there would be no last minute, nerve-destroying rushes! How much better they would serve all and how much happiness it would bring them if all shopping was done early and unhurriedly!

Get complete details
TOMORROW
 at Ford salesrooms

FOR several years we have been working on the new Ford car. For weeks and months you have been hearing rumors about it. For the past few days you have been reading some of the details of it in the newspapers.

Whatever you do tomorrow, take at least fifteen minutes to get the full story of this new automobile.

You will realize then that it is an entirely new and different Ford car, designed and created to meet modern conditions—a car that brings you more beauty, speed, quiet, comfort, safety, economy and stamina than you ever thought possible in a low-price car.

Automobile history will be made tomorrow, for the new Ford is not only new in appearance and performance . . . it is new in mechanical design. Many features are exclusive Ford developments. Some are wholly new in automobile practice. Its low price is a reflection of manufacturing improvements and economies that are as epoch-making as the car itself.

Nineteen years of experience in building 25,000,000 automobiles are behind the new Ford car and have counted in its making. Resources unmatched in the motor car industry are its heritage and its birthright.

The Ford policy of owning the source of raw materials, of making virtually every part, of doing business at a small profit per car, has cut many dollars off the price you would ordinarily have to pay for a car like this.

So we say to you—learn about this new Ford car tomorrow. Compare it with any other car in the light-car field for beauty of line—for comfort—for speed—for quick acceleration—for flexibility in traffic . . . for steadiness at all speeds . . . for power on the hills . . .

for economy and low cost of up-keep . . . for its sturdy ability to stand up under countless thousands of miles of service. Then you will know why tomorrow will be remembered as one of the greatest days in the entire history of the automobile industry. . . . Then you will know why the new Ford car will be your car.

DR. I. L. WOOD IS CENTENNIAL MEET SPEAKER

Two East Liverpool Sons on Methodist Program.

MUSIC TONIGHT

Prof. Reardon and Ensemble Come From Youngstown.

"You ought to have a revival every day in the year," declared Dr. Isaac L. Wood, builder of the First Methodist Episcopal church here and present superintendent of the Barnesville district, to his former parishioners and representatives of other congregations at the fourth session of the denomination's centennial service last evening.

"Make your motives a great conviction," he said. "Get all of God you can and put Him in operation in the society in which you turn. It is yours to have God's help and be with you in your business that you through your business may propagate Christianity in the world."

With Revs. Joseph Kenney of Steubenville and Howard Peterson, of Williamsport, Ohio, former members of the congregation also taking part in the evening's festivities, the deliberations—as at Monday night's banquet, were of a reminiscent nature.

Rev. Mr. Kenney was delegated by Dr. Warren O. Hawkins, the pastor, as chairman and he presided gracefully since he recalled vividly persons and incidents of the past and also knew intimately many now composing the church's membership.

The augmented choir, under the direction of Prof. Hugh F. Laughlin, rendered an anthem and led in the congregational singing.

Rainfall Keeps Many Away. The invocation was made by Rev. Mr. Kenney, and the benediction pronounced by Dr. Hawkins.

Heavy rainfall just at the opening interval kept many away from the service.

Reaction was also somewhat felt from the two large meetings of Tuesday which Billy Sunday addressed and during which every previous arrangement was called out without a single mishap. Even the night service of the evangelist was protracted in length by reason of the interest of the Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction company, through its president, C. A. Smith, contributing its best Pullman car as a special to Steubenville so he could make his connection west from there.

Another outstanding departure of the anniversary celebration will be the music night offering this evening, when the artist students of the Reardon School of Music, Youngstown, will present a program. Alberto Reardon will direct the ensemble and Mrs. Reardon will carry the vocal part of the night's contribution. Mr. and Mrs. Reardon were former East Liverpool residents.

Tell of Early Days. "There were 75 young men and women in many Sunday night class meeting services despite street parades in the old church when I was a young man," recalled Rev. Mr. Kenney, who told also many incidents of the early days in the congregation as a Sunday school and Christian Endeavor president.

Rev. Mr. Peterson, a former pastor of Boyce chapel in the East End, remembered back to the pastorate of Dr. Huston and told of being converted during the ministry of his successor, Dr. Clark Crawford. He was a newsboy for both Drs. Pratt and Lane. The latter never seemed to have a poor sermon," he observed, "and always reminded me of William Jennings Bryan."

He related the wet and dry incident of Dr. Lane, who covered an American flag with a wet petition over which at the conclusion of his address a fine silk flag was dropped, indicating that it's blot had been removed. "Such a procedure won that fight for the dries," he said.

He told of using Dr. Kirby's library when the Boyce street pastor.

He congratulated the churchmen on the accomplishments in building the new church.

In characteristic vigor and mental alertness Dr. Wood spoke glowingly of East Liverpool at the outset of his discourse.

"East Liverpool is the most beautiful city in which I have ever been, despite the fact I have visited London, Paris, Vienna and the metropolitan centers of America," he said. "I have seen better architecture, finer factories, but there is in East Liverpool something that is internal, universal and spiritual. It is a beauty of soul I have never found elsewhere. There is here a kindness, a democracy of spirit in your Anglo-Saxon stocks that singles you out."

Americanism: Dodging jury service; kicking because juries are idiotic.—Youngstown Vindicator.

HANLEY CANNOT NAME TRUSTEE

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 1.—Attorney General Edward C. Turner in a ruling given Prosecuting Attorney Robert M. Brookes, of Lisbon, today held that the judge of the East Liverpool municipal court "has no power or authority to make an appointment for the purpose of filling a vacancy in the board of township trustees of Liverpool township."

The inquiry, it is said, was made merely for the purpose of ascertaining the power of the municipal judge. At present there is no vacancy in the township board.

good roads, and his work will increase the sale, as it always has done, of bigger, more expensive cars.

THOSE that buy stocks evidently think Henry Ford has a good new car. His United States stock is not for sale, he owns it all, but stock in his company in Canada went up $105 a share in two days, passing $700 a share. Last May, Henry Ford advised a few of his friends to buy it around $300 a share. It was good advice.

MOUKHTAR BEY, ambassador from Turkey, comes ashore and police guard him, fearing an Armenian attack. Armenians say Moukhtar killed 30,000 Armenians during the war. He says he did not.

IN ANY case, Armenians should settle any political quarrels away from American soil.

ANOTHER Turkish ambassador, the late Mavroyan Bey, whom all Washington liked, replied to the charge of murdering Armenians as follows: "You talk about Armenians. Where are your Red Indians? I see no Red Indians. What did you do with them?"

IN BUENOS AIRES Alexander Alekhine, Russian, 35 years old, became world chess champion after the eighty-first move in the thirty-fourth game. Jose R. Capablanca, champion since 1921, was driven to the wall. Unfortunately, when you win championship at chess you don't do anything in particular. Intense mental effort is used on non-productive work. A man who can improve, however, little on electric light or the radio is worth more to the world than all chess players.

ANOTHER pathetic detail, Alekhine will not be ready to play again until 1929 and will play for a stake of only $10,000. That would amuse Jack Dempsey and Mr. Gene Tunney. They would not look at a chess board or a squared ring for as little as $10,000.

ALGERIA is suffering from rains that should make us ashamed to complain of our weather, rains that would cause even a modernist to admit that a Noah flood might be possible. Towns are wiped out by floods of water, in some places 30 feet deep. $20,000,000 in damage was done in Northwestern Algeria, hundreds of square miles covered with sand and washed soil. Nature seems bent on breaking records for 1927.

MAN FINED $100, GETS JAIL TERM

Boyd Hughes, 35, Wellsville, was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in the county jail by Municipal Judge Hanley today after being found guilty of petit larceny. Hughes, who was arrested in Wellsville last night, is alleged to have stolen a traveling man's sample case from his machine, parked near the Traveler's hotel, Tuesday night. Part of the loot was recovered.

Emmett Densmore, also of Wellsville, was fined $25 for assault. He was arrested upon information of his wife, Gladys, who claimed that her husband threw her from a moving automobile Monday night.

witness replied affirmatively and was told to relate that occasion.

Struggled Violently. "It was in Indianapolis during the Jack Daniels liquor conspiracy trial," said Rogers. "Remus was a government witness in that case and was quartered at the Claypool hotel. George Connors (Remus' business partner) and I were with him. One night John S. Bergeon, of Los Angeles, said: 'The New York draft for $12,000, issued by the Phoenix National bank of Lexington, Ky., is made out to Mr. Hinkle, but is the property of Mrs. I. Remus.'"

Remus is expected to take the stand in his own defense tomorrow or Saturday.

"I'm going to tear things wide open," he promised today. "Remus has revelations to make and no one is going to stop him."

Just before Rogers took the stand, Elston read to the jury a copy of a contract introduced as evidence late yesterday, which purports to show that Dodge contracted to sell more than 2,000 barrels of whiskey said to have belonged to Remus. This contract to which Dodge's name is signed, said: "The New York draft for $12,000, issued by the Phoenix National bank of Lexington, Ky., is made out to Mr. Hinkle, but is the property of Mrs. I. Remus."

RAY CLIFF IS KIWANIS GUEST

Pottery Manufacturer Speaks at Noon Luncheon.

Grill room of the New Travelers' hotel was officially opened today when members of the Kiwanis club held their luncheon with approximately 50 members and guests in attendance. The speaker was Ray V. Cliff, head of the Sebring Pottery company, Sebring, and a member of the Alliance Kiwanis club.

Dr. W. A. Hobbs presided. Prof. Hugh Laughlin led in the chorus singing, with Claude Chambers as the pianist. Among the guests were Herbert Goodwin, formerly of Cambridge, who was recently named superintendent of the Kenilworth Tile company plant, Newell.

Attorney W. B. Hill, chairman of the nominating committee, filed with Secretary Carl Gruber a list of proposed officers for the club next year. The election will take place at the meeting of the club on December 15.

Cliff discussed "The Test of Success."

"Success is not measured by the amount of worldly goods which one accumulates in his life time, but by the standing he attains among his fellow men," he said. "A man may be dishonored and yet be a success in life, for very often he may do something which is not popular with the masses, yet he is doing the thing which his convictions tell him to do. 'We very often hear the expression of the 'soul of art' and the 'soul of music.' It is not the technique of a painting or of a musical offering which is referred to as a soul but something which appeals to us. The soul of man is his good qualities, his feeling of friendship and loyalty to his fellow men."

River is Rising

check the rise. A 30-foot river in East Liverpool will not reach the lowlands in Jethro, Smiths Ferry or Wellsville, engineers at the dam declared. The crest is not expected before Friday night or early Saturday morning.

Western Pennsylvania Hit. PITTSBURGH, Dec. 1.—Western Pennsylvania today expected one of the worst winter floods in years as rivers throughout the section rose under continued heavy rainfall.

Reports from the northwestern section of the state showed rivers two and three feet above flood stage and still rising.

At Bradford, in the extreme northern tier of counties, the business section and the entire lower part of the town was flooded with water from Tuna creek. The depths averaged from four inches in the highest section to four feet in the lowest.

There the first Methodist Episcopal church was thrown open to families forced to move from their homes.

At Franklin the Allegheny river was above the 17-foot level at noon. Flood stage there is 15 feet. Scores of houses were inundated and boats were being used to remove families from their homes.

Other Rivers at Flood Stage. COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 1.—Rivers in the central and north portions of Ohio have reached flood stage, following the continuous downpour of rain for nearly 24 hours yesterday, according to a report issued at the United States weather bureau here today.

Flood warnings have been sent to Circleville, the Scioto river is out of its banks at Delaware and the continued influx of water into the stream from its smaller tributaries has caused some alarm.

Property around and near Coshocton bordering on the Muskingum river will suffer some damage, according to the report.

Marysville reported an average rainfall of 2.16 inches, the heaviest rainfall in a number of years.

Advices from Cleveland stated that the Chagrin river was out of its banks near Bentleyville and residents were reported ready to leave their homes if necessary.

Several smaller streams in the northern part of Ohio were reported over their banks. Dover is threatened by high water.

A drop in temperature of approximately 35 degrees during yesterday and last night was expected to check the rise of the waters in most sections of the state.

"Though reports predict slightly warmer weather and rain or snow tomorrow afternoon or evening there is no cause for alarm," W. B. Alexander, director of the weather bureau, said.

Check Other Ohio Streams. CLEVELAND, Dec. 1.—A drop in temperature of approximately 30 degrees during yesterday and last night was expected to check rising waters in several northern Ohio streams today, for a time, had threatened to do considerable damage, as a result of 24 hours of almost continuous rainfall.

Several streams had reached flood stage in Cuyahoga county and the Cuyahoga river was tied up by a five-mile current with the water one foot above normal.

Several smaller streams were reported over their banks in some sections. The Chagrin river was out of its banks near Bentleyville and residents were reported ready to leave their homes if necessary. Willoughby reported that the river was rising rapidly there.

Driven by a 56 mile an hour wind, the rainstorm swept into Cleveland and vicinity yesterday and caused considerable damage, a check-up disclosed this morning.

Akron reported flooded cellars and sleet-covered streets unsafe for traffic.

Pennsylvania Dies in England. LONDON, Dec. 1.—Richard H. R. Poland, of Cedar Tree farm, Phoenixville, Pa., who had been on the Isle of Jersey for three weeks buying cattle for his farm, died suddenly at the Grand hotel, Jersey, early today.

ILLINOIS "BOSS" CUPID'S ALLY

EVANSTON, Ill., Dec. 1.—Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence S. Hillstrom believe they are the most favored newlyweds in the world today, thanks to a wedding present from "the boss."

The boss was J. W. Work, who during the past 35 years has built up one of the most profitable real estate concerns in Evanston.

Here was Mr. Work's gift to the newlyweds:

His entire business, including office, fixtures, good will and every asset—with no strings attached.

In addition, he gave his two faithful employees his pretentious home in Orrington avenue with most of its furnishings.

300 RADIO STATIONS HIT

Federal Commission to Revoke Licenses Feb. 1.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—Nearly 300 broadcasting stations now on the air will lose their licenses February 1, the federal radio commission announced today.

This drastic use of the "big stick," which will cut the number of stations in operation to about 400 is essential to give the listeners real service, according to Commissioner Sam Pickard.

Small stations, of low power, and those rendering little or no public service must go, the edict said.

The commission's new policy follows to a degree recommendations of national radio engineer which suggested that not more than 300 stations can be accommodated if radio is to give real service.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—Industrial stock price movements were confusing in the early period today. General Motors was under selling pressure following announcement of the price scale for the new Ford cars. Fast moving specialties sold down a point or more on profit-taking, while newcomers to the active list continued to move upward.

American Machine and Foundry added 9 points to yesterday's 16-point jump and Westinghouse was strong above 92. Atchafson and Canadian Pacific led the advance in the rail list.

Wall street commission houses reported a decrease in the volume of outside speculative buying, and a tendency to shift from the specialties to the better-known industrial and railroad stocks. The "fast and furious" pace of the market was under criticism, and a more cautious attitude advised.

Ford's scale of prices for the model A car was somewhat lower than expected, and the financial district heard considerable comment as to its probable effect on the business of other producers of low-priced automobiles. Selling extended to Chrysler, Studebaker and Willys Overland etc. in the second hour, but buying demand was sufficient to absorb offerings at fractional price concessions.

The brilliant forward movement in motor, accessory stocks continued, with Timken selling above 131, Collins and Alkman in new high ground at 103 1/2 and Stewart Warner strong, above 87.

Railroad stocks entered more actively into the speculative transactions of the day, and higher prices were quoted for Wabash, Western Maryland, Canadian Pacific, Atchafson, Baltimore and Ohio and Union Pacific.

"I have no use for a person who tells one story one time and a different one another time," Hinkle declared, as he intimated some legal action would be taken.

Surface Youngstown Road Next Spring

Inter-city Highway Open Southward From Apple's Corners and Williamsport.

Surfacing of the Youngstown-East Liverpool road between Williamsport and Rogers will get under way early next spring, according to an announcement today by County Surveyor Lloyd C. Kirk. Contract for the surfacing of the highway between Middleton and the Cox highway, in the northern part of the county, will be undertaken at the same time.

Shorter detour in the vicinity of the Y. & O. sub-station has been eliminated, the road being opened southward from Apple's Corners and also from Williamsport. Motorists may now travel the new road as far as one of the two bridges which have been built over Beaver creek at Williamsport.

Perms are being built on one section between the Township line school and Williamsport. Guard rails will be erected next spring. County commissioners will widen the concrete section between the sub-station and Calcutta next spring.

The road between the East Liverpool corporate limits and West Ninth street will also be surfaced in 1928. Surfacing of the East Liverpool-East Palestine road is to be completed before July 1, 1928. The Allison & Harris Construction company, of East Liverpool, expect to finish the grading within the next three months. The surfacing work will start early in the spring.

NO ONE INJURED

Transfer System is Established by Traction Company.

Crashing down from a point half-way up the sheer heights at Walker's with a force and a tonnage that would have demolished any automobile that would have been caught beneath or would have shoved a street car off the tracks over a 50-foot embankment below, an immense rock fall, the weight of which it would be difficult to estimate, covered the Wellsville-East Liverpool highway and the street car tracks shortly after 5 o'clock this morning.

The mass of rock dropped into the roadway and on the street car tracks a couple of minutes after an east-bound "flyer" interurban had passed the spot and just a few minutes before an eastbound city car, which follows the interurban, had reached that point.

Extent of the damage to both the roadway and the westbound street car track cannot be estimated until the rocks are removed.

Street car passengers transferred for several hours until county road forces and street car company employees had dynamited the rock off the east bound track and service then was resumed on the one-way track between the top of the hill at Jethro and Silver switch.

At least one section of one of the rails of the westbound track was bent out of place. The other rail could not be seen after the slip.

The concrete curbing along the roadway was crushed like so much paper mache and, in view of the immensity of one great section of rock which would fit into an ordinary living room with little space to spare, it is believed the brick roadway itself has sustained considerable damage.

SALINEVILLE FESTIVAL ENDS

The last number of the Evening Star Festival at the Opera house Tuesday evening was well attended. The Mason jubilee singers rendered an interesting program. Dr. Earnest Powell delivered an address from the subject, "Banking Fires," an appeal to better citizenship.

On Monday evening the third number, "Mother's Millions," a three-act comedy, was given.

A contract for a return engagement for next fall is being presented to the citizens of Salineville, by Miss Maude Johnson, superintendent.

The following were guarantors: Harry Shaff, president; S. A. Hart, secretary; George Williams, treasurer; Rev. Ross S. Wilson, Rev. W. S. Martin, Rev. H. L. Peoples, Dr. H. M. Taylor, Prof. C. C. Miller, W. A. McBane, R. W. George, Paul Reeves, Allen Maple, John L. Huston, W. D. Holmes, James Willis, R. W. Daley, Warren Hill, and Frank P. Judge. A balance of $45 had to be made up by the 15 guarantors.

How the Other Half Behaves

A Novel Presser. NEW YORK CITY.—A newly-brought-out electrical device is a trouser presser which attends to a pair of badly crumpled and baggy-kneed trousers while a shave is being taken. This presser can be installed anywhere in the house and has been designed with absent-minded men in view. That is, trousers can be left for 24 hours without getting scorched.

Real Jaw Breaker. TOLEDO, O.—An apple proved a traitor to its kind recently when, instead of keeping the doctor away, it brought one in a hurry to the rescue of Charles Adams. The youth took a lusty bite from a big, red apple and dislocated his jaw.

Rats Challenge Catchers. Rats have become so smart in England that they are defying the professional rat catchers. Battersen, which has been raging ruthlessly against the rodents, used 405,000 baits in the past 12 months and bagged only 2,029 rats, then figured up and found that it had cost the borough 84 cents to kill each rodent. It has been estimated that it will cost London $50,000,000 to rid itself entirely of these pests.

WASHINGTON STEWART'S LETTER

By Charles P. Stewart.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—In his mind's eye—and about five years—Congressman Clyde Kelly, of Pennsylvania, can see international mails traveling by airplane, just as domestic mails do now, only more so, a great deal.

Congressman Kelly, a mighty busy postoffice committee member, prophesies with authority on the subject of air mails.

He's father of the contract air mail system, as we have it here at home. Next thing, he's ambitious to be the parent of a sister system, to carry the family name overseas.

Such infants cost a little money to launch in life. The Pennsylvania congressman's mission is to see that the postmaster general's enabled to charge enough for stamps to provide 'em with the pabulum they need.

THE domestic air mail has bothered Papa Kelly a trifle of late, by acting up.

Originally it was a government-operated air mail.

"This is wrong," reasoned the Keystone State representative. "Private aviators ought to get this business, on contract, for enough to keep 'em alive. Assured of that and maybe a wee bit over, they can manage to do pretty well, with what they can earn on the side.

"Then American flying will develop, sure enough."

The Pennsylvania put this scheme through. The postoffice quit operating planes, and a few weeks ago, turned the last of the air mails over to private contractors to transport.

And now come complaints of cases where these mails don't travel as fast under contract, as the government carried them.

"NAUGHTY!" exclaimed Papa Kelly, hotly, when he heard this news.

Calling straightway for particulars and not getting all of them he wanted by return messenger, he says he'll start a regular investigation as soon as congress meets and he's vested again with his committeeman's authority, which doesn't function between congresses.

You can see by his expression that he means it—all the more because the contract air mail's his own child.

Third Edison Co. Generating Unit is Planned; New Tower Lines to be Erected.

The Edison Co., which recently completed the construction of a second power plant unit on its property north of Toronto, will erect a third unit next year, it was announced today.

The company is now arranging to erect a second tower line through Jefferson, Columbiana and Mahoning counties to its sub-station at Boardman, south of Youngstown.

This tower line will parallel the initial line. Structural steel is being distributed along the right of way, and at an early date the erection of towers will begin.

Completion of the new power plant unit will at the same time increase the coal mining activity of the company in Jefferson county.

Current from the Toronto plant is now being used in the Lisbon district, and it is said that the company plans additional line extensions in the Columbiana county territory.

It is said that the fourth plant unit may be erected on the Toronto site later.

Care of Babies

This baby has never had a day's sickness and never a cross or fretful spell that lasted an hour. And what do you suppose is responsible for this healthy, happy condition? Not diet, for he has eaten just about anything and everything a child could eat. Not drugs, for he has never been dosed with opiates; he has never had a drop of paregoric. Nor has his sensible mother ever made him taste castor oil. Yet his nerves are sound and his little bowels are strong, and when he does seem the least restless or wakeful, or out of sorts—or likely to be—his mother has him all serene again in ten or fifteen minutes!

The secret of this complete freedom from the many ills and upsets so common to infants? Plain old-fashioned Castoria. A million and more mothers swear by Castoria, and no wonder! A few drops and an approaching fever, colic, diarrhea or constipation seems to vanish in thin air. Castoria is purely vegetable; that is why physicians tell parents they may use it freely with children of any age—the youngest infant. And how they love the taste!

One word of warning; get the pure, real Castoria. Fletcher's Castoria is the original. It is the kind doctors specify. And with every bottle comes a book on "Care and Feeding of Babies" that is worth its weight in gold to any mother or prospective mother. So, remember; tell your druggist you wish Fletcher's Castoria.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c and 60c.

Acquires a Good Appetite and Feels Much Stronger Since Taking Herb Tonic.

When an experienced nurse comes out openly and says that Redwood's Tepee Tonic is the best remedy for treating stomach, kidney and liver troubles, then those who are not acquainted with the action of medicine on the human system would do well to take such advice.

Redwood.
Miss Kathryn O'Rourke, 722 Chestnut street, Erie, Pa., who is a nurse of long experience says: "I am out to say that Tepee Herb Tonic is the best medicine on earth for treating stomach, kidney and liver troubles. I say this after having given it a thorough trial."

"When I started to take Tepee Herb Tonic I was badly undernourished and under weight. My health was not up to the standard. Every little change in the weather or exposure gave me a cold and then I would have a hacking cough and chills. I hadn't felt real well for three years. I had a pain in my chest that annoyed me very much."

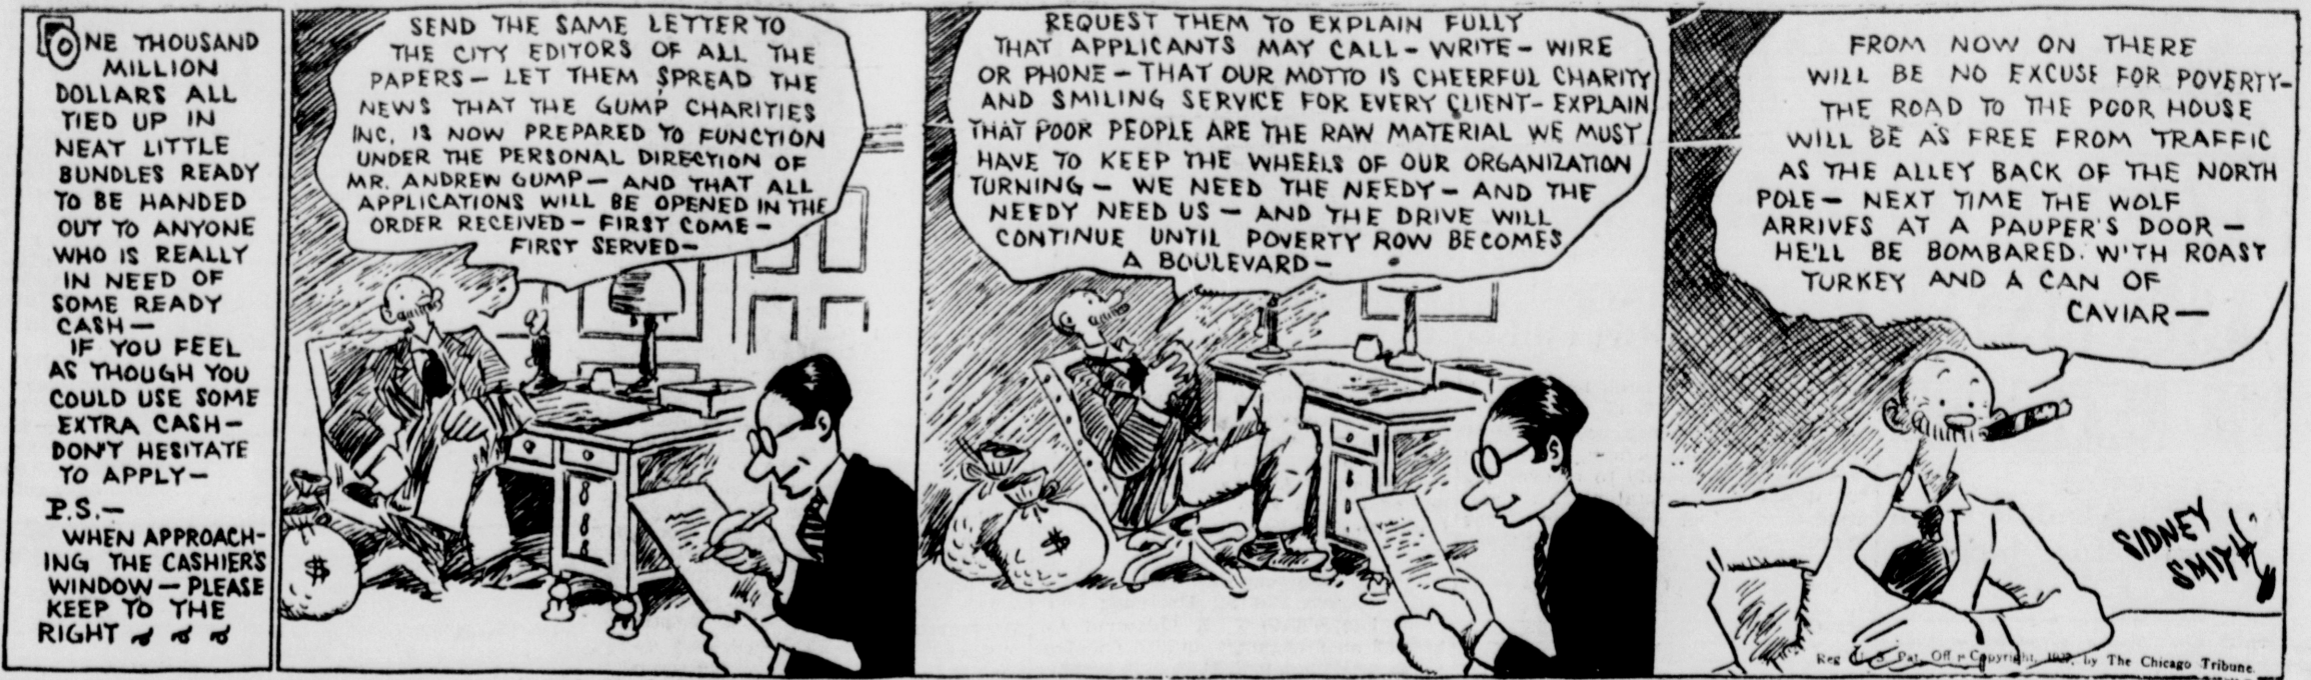

"I took Tepee Herb Tonic according to directions and when I had finished my first bottle the pain in my chest had disappeared and my cough was much better."

"I continued to take it and continued to get stronger, until now I have a good appetite and feel fine. I am gaining weight. I want to personally thank Tepee Herb Tonic for relieving me and I will always praise it."

Doctor Found Women and Children Sick More Often than Men

As a family doctor at Monticello, Illinois, the whole human body, not any part of it, was Dr. Caldwell's practice. More than half his "calls" were on women, children and babies. They are the ones most often sick. But their illnesses were usually of a minor nature—colds, fevers, headaches, biliousness—and all of them required first a thorough evacuation. They were constipated.

In the course of Dr. Caldwell's 47 years' practice (he was graduated from Rush Medical College back 1875), he found a good deal of success in such cases with a prescription of his own containing simple laxative herbs with psyllium. In 1892 he decided to use this formula in the manufacture of a medicine to be known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and in that year his prescription was first placed on the market.

The preparation immediately had as great a success in the drug stores as it previously had in Dr. Caldwell's private practice. Now, the third generation is using it. Mothers are giving it to their children who were given it by their mothers. Every second of the working day someone somewhere is going into a drug store to buy it. Millions of bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin are being used a year.

Its great success is based on merit, on repeated buying, on one satisfied user telling another. There are thousands of homes in this country that are never without a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and we have gotten many hundreds of letters from grateful people telling us that it helped them when everything else failed.

While women, children and elderly people are especially benefited by Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, it is promptly effective on the most robust constitution and in the most obstinate cases. It is mild and gentle in its actions and does not cause griping and strain. Containing neither opiates nor narcotics, it is safe for the tiniest baby. Children like it and take it willingly. Every drug store sells Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Keep a bottle in your home—where many live someone is sure to need it quickly.

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.

Tunney Aide Claims Gene Was Gypped

M'Cabe Tells How Tex Talked Champ Out of $115,000.

By Davis J. Walsh.
NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—Just how Tex Rickard was alleged to have "smarted" Gene Tunney out of $115,000 by a midnight telephone call four days before the first Dempsey fight in Philadelphia was revealed today for the first time. The alleged revelation was aired by Bill McCabe, personal caretaker of the heavyweight champion.

The $115,000, it seems, represented a kick-back from the original contract Tunney is supposed to have held with Rickard, calling it is alleged, for 17 1/2 per cent of the receipts. What the champion admits he actually received was a flat guarantee of $200,000, whereas McCabe claims Tunney would have got some $315,000 if he had insisted upon the promoter carrying out the terms of the contract to the letter.

That he did not so insist was due to the goodness of his heart or something, according to McCabe. For Rickard, keeping Tunney standing by a drafty telephone for upward of an hour, is said to have pleaded with the fighter that he, Rickard, was "in a bad hole" with the directors of the Madison Square Garden corporation because they thought he was spending too much on the fight and that, therefore, it was up to Tunney to help him out. This, says McCabe, Tunney ultimately agreed to do.

"And," that gentleman added, "all this time Rickard had a virtual sell out. Is it any wonder that we want more assurance now from Rickard that he will produce a contender for a title bout next summer, under the terms of our contract?"

From Tunney himself have come frequent intimations that he was far from satisfied with the way Rickard took care of him in Philadelphia but this is the first time that any member of the entourage has outlined details as to what might have been the cause of the champion's displeasure. The latter merely signified that the displeasure was all his, particularly around the time last winter when he was conferring with Hubert Fugazy in what proved to be a successful effort to force Rickard into the open.

The object of all this hocus pocus was to get a contract so favorable that the alleged Philadelphia incident would be wiped out of all memory and it might be said, offhand, that Tunney succeeded. Anyhow, he got a contract that might have netted him $1,200,000 for his bit, so called, at Chicago, but the understanding later was that Tunney was persuaded to accept only a pittance for all that trouble.

This naturally distressed him greatly and what with one thing and another, mostly both, he feels that all has not been Jacob. This, in any case, is McCabe's story. He says that Tunney has come out as an avowed proponent of the kick-in, having had an ample sufficiency of the kick-back.

'POP' CONCLUDES EASTERN TRIP

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 1.—Glen "Pop" Warner, whose Stanford Cardinals meet Pittsburgh in a post-season game at Pasadena on Jan. 2, was back from the east today where he watched the Panthers in action against Penn State. Warner said that Pittsburgh was the best team he has seen perform this year, and he, by the way, was among those present at the Notre Dame-Southern California game at Chicago Saturday.

Warner is among those who believe that the much talked of decision of John Schommer, the umpire of the Irish-Trojan game, deprived Southern California of a victory.

Two County Boys on O. S. Track Squad

Lisbon and Salem Contribute to Scarlet Team.

COLUMBUS, Dec. 1.—Charles Byron Coffee, of Salem, and D. E. Tritten, of Lisbon, will be Columbus county representatives on Coach Frank Castleman's track team at Ohio State university this year.

Coffee, a member of the Ohio State grid eleven this fall, is considered as one of Coach Castleman's dependable runners for the distance races, which will take place next spring. The Salem youth was a star of the freshman track squad last year.

Tritten excels both in the shot-put and the discus. He is second only to Peter Rasmus, of Ashtabula, Big Ten Conference champion, as a discus thrower at Ohio State. Tritten's record is 125 feet, while Rasmus won the conference title by heaving the disk 156 feet last year.

The Salem athlete is enrolled in the college of education and Tritten in the college of commerce and administration as a junior.

Rockne's Star Guard Joins All-East Team

Smith Will Make Grid Trip to Pacific Coast.

WASHINGTON, Pa., Dec. 1.—Captain Smith, star Notre Dame guard, has notified Andy Kerr that he is willing to join the All-Eastern football team which will meet a picked Pacific coast team in a charity game in San Francisco on Dec. 26. Kerr, who is coach at Washington and Jefferson, is assembling the eastern players.

Flanagan, the Notre Dame backfield luminary, informed Kerr that he would like to make the trip but may be forced to go to Texas, where his mother is ill.

Claude Grigsby, Georgetown center, sent word that he probably would be unable to make the journey. Dwight Fishwick, Yale end, is to let Kerr know today whether he can go. Eleven other eastern stars already have accepted invitations.

COLAC PILE PILL USERS SAY TROUBLE NEVER RETURNS

First Users In Original Tests Say Relief Is Permanent.

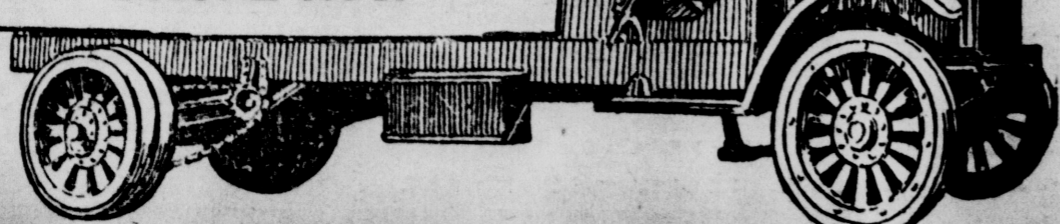

AMAZING RESULTS HERE AMONG LOCAL PEOPLE

Everybody using the new internal pile and hemorrhoid remedy here in town reports almost instant relief from the symptoms and suffering but can I hope this glorious relief is permanent, many ask. Numerous letters from earliest users in the first tests seem to prove conclusively it is so. "A year ago I had a severe case of piles that were a great discomfort. I took the new Colac Pile Pills and in less than a week my ailment was entirely gone and I have had no return of the trouble since," enthusiastically writes Mr. C. Hitchcock, Gens Falls, N. Y. Several more of the numerous letters received and proving the permanency of relief afforded pile sufferers by Colac Pile Pills will be published in this paper from time to time. Doctors say that even were the results only temporary, they are harmless and it is nice to know we have a remedy at last, no matter how long or severely the patient suffers, from burning, itching, painful or protruding piles and hemorrhoids, that solves the urgent problem of relief. Results are so positive several local druggists offer to refund money if even most severe or chronic cases are not relieved completely. Just a couple pills internally with swallow of water meal times, a few days. Harmless, strictly vegetable, these pills are made in the world's largest laboratory of finest ingredients and do not upset or disturb any normal function. Even delicate old men and women report glorious relief in a few days in many instances. Certainly no sufferer, young or old should neglect themselves another day. They should get a bottle of Colac Pile Pills at any good drug store.

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—John Smith, of Providence, R. I., Fordham tackle, will captain the Maroon eleven next season.

COACHES TO APPOINT CAPTAINS OF TEAMS

Intimate Politics of School Organizations Interfere With Efficient Functioning of Football, Other Teams.

COUMBUS, O., Dec. 1.—The recent action of the athletic board at Ohio State University in abolishing the methods of electing captains of the representative teams of the university, is finding favor among students and the athletes who will be most affected.

Holding to a "laissez faire" policy, believing that the election of captains was primarily the right of the team members in former years, the athletic board this year has finally taken a hand in the matter and has given the coaches power to appoint leaders before every athletic match.

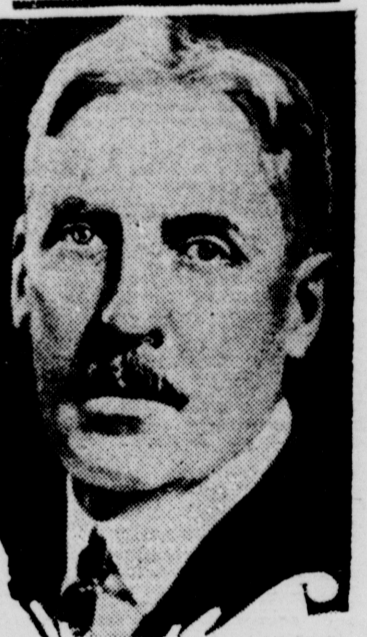

The move of the board is believed to be the result of an effort to check the control of fraternity politics which have been evident in the selection of captains of varsity teams for the past several years. The politics of the Greek organizations have been declared to have become so highly developed and over-organized that they have interfered with the efficient functioning of the teams.

Five junior football men, all of whom were being considered for the captaincy of the 1928 gridiron squad before the announcement was made by the athletic board, have all given their approval of the new system. They are: Joe Cox, of Dayton and William "Bill" Young, of Kenton, guards; George Alber, of Toledo, end; Leo Raszkowski, of Cleveland, tackle, and Byron Eby, of Chillicothe, halfback.

Hearty support is being given the athletic board by the student body in backing its recent decision, owing largely to the fact that factions composed of but few Greek-letter organizations have controlled office selections at the Buckeye school for several years.

With the captaincy of the teams made honorary ones at the termination of the season, and the office going to the athlete playing the best in the conflicts, athletic officials believe keener playing interest will result in Ohio State teams of the future.

Will Re-build Reds

C. J. McDiarmid, new president of the Cincinnati club of the National League, goes into office announcing a vigorous policy which, he predicts, will bring another pennant to the Ohio city.

"WINE" STAR IS CLARA BOW

Screen Version of MacHarg Story at American.

Brilliant cafe scenes ranging from those whose electric lights flash over the streets of a great city, to the more secluded rendezvous set back from an Interurban road to the jazzy palace created from the interior of a ship anchored beyond the Volstead Act limit, are conspicuous features of "Wine," starring Clara Bow, which comes tomorrow and Saturday to the American theatre.

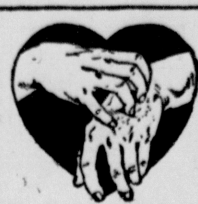

The picture was made by an all star cast under direction of Louis Gasnier. The featured players in addition to Clara Bow are Forrest Stanley, Huntly Gordon, Myrtle Stedman, Robert Agnew, Walter Long, Grace Carlisle and Leo White.

William MacHarg wrote "Wine" and it was published as a short story in Cosmopolitan magazine.

The three main characters to the story are a mother, father and debaucher daughter. Around them revolve striking types of jazz-loving society men and women and youth with fine family history.

PEERLESS-JORDAN MERGER DENIED

CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 1.—Recent reports regarding a possible merger of the Peerless, Jordan and Continental motors were emphatically denied here today by Robert M. Calfee, counsel for the Peerless Motor Car company.

IS THERE NO RELIEF FROM SKIN TORTURE?

Must I Continue to Suffer the Unbearable Itching?

Are you one of those unfortunates who are going through life suffering with a skin disease, making you uncomfortable, making you less efficient, interfering with your working hours, ruining your sleep? You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S.S.S.? For more than 100 years it has been giving relief in many forms of skin disease. Thousands of letters of gratitude prove its worth.

"I feel so happy for what S.S.S. has done for me that I want others to know about it. I suffered twenty long years from eczema. At times the itching was unbearable. During that time, I used all kinds of salves proposals had been submitted by certain parties, declared that there had been no agreement of any kind, nor was any contemplated in the immediate future.

Attorneys for the Jordan Motor company refused to comment on the report in any way.

Little Netherlands East Indies will produce 223,000 tons of rubber this year.

without receiving any real benefit. After taking six bottles of S.S.S., I was cured of this dreadful disease. I recommend S.S.S. to anyone suffering from eczema, because I can not praise it enough for what it has done for me." Cleophas Forte, Soldiers and Sailors Home, Quincy, Ill.

S.S.S. is purely vegetable. It is extracted from the fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.
